All great journeys start by asking three questions:

1. Where do I want to go?
2. What is my current location?
3. What path do I need to take to arrive at my desired location?

In instructing IAAO and Excel classes throughout North Carolina, I've had the pleasure of meeting many great assessment professionals. This article seeks to assist assessing professionals and assessing offices to chart their journey. I hope you find this article helpful as you plan your journey to assessing excellence!
